Program Description

The RN-to-BSN program awards a Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) degree to RNs who are graduates from a regionally accredited associate nursing degree program or a nursing diploma program with specialized nursing accreditation (e.g. ACEN, NLN CNEA) following successful completion of 30 credits of upper division course work at Thomas Jefferson University, Jefferson College of Nursing. All courses are online, asynchronous, and offered in 8-week sessions to maximize efficiency of learning and foster academic progression for working adults.
