About Us

Jefferson College of Rehabilitation Sciences brings together Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy, Athletic Training, and Speech-Language Pathology. Our goal is to provide programs that are unique in terms of educating students to provide high-quality care that will integrate people back into their communities.

The College of Rehabilitation Sciences is proud to be home to two programs ranked by U.S. News & World Report: Occupational Therapy and Physical Therapy. Both programs offer students opportunities to participate in research, clinical, and educational experiences.

The College is committed to becoming a recognized leader in innovative educational, clinical and research programs.
