

COMPUTER (ONLINE) (CISX)

CISX 112: Introduction to Computing

This course strives to meet the high level of computer literacy required of all students earning a degree from the university. Special emphasis is placed on the ethical use of computer technology for information analysis and communications. Computer units introduce the Internet, Windows, word processing, database analysis, spreadsheets, and presentation software.

Credits: 3

College: School of Business

Schedule Type: By Appointment - 1 student, By Appointment - 4 students, On-Line